Dear Friends,

It has been a very exciting summer here at FINCA Perú Exports! We said goodbye to our previous volunteers Dustin and Teresa in June and welcomed our new volunteers Daniel and Roberta. Daniel is from Seattle, WA where he studies public affairs at the University of Washington. Roberta is originally from Vitória, Brazil, but has spent the last 3 years in Argentina completing her masters in international relations and is the recipient of a Peace and Conflict Resolution Fellowship with Rotary International.

Last week, we were honored to participate in Exhíbe Perú 2008, a national exhibition of Peruvian artisans held in Lima's beautiful Miraflores park. Our new volunteers attended the event, along with several of FINCA Peru Exports artisans. The event was a great success! We had the honor of sharing our stand with Marcelino Pomataylla Bautista, a master tapestry artist from Ayacucho whose work caught the eyes of the fair. We made several personal contacts with people all over the world, met with artists from other regions of Peru and sold tons of products. We would like to thank all of you who attended Exhíbe Perú and made this event a memorable one for us. To see more pictures from Exhíbe Perú 2008,
